FILMS AND RETURNS AT THE BIJOU THEATER

In addition to several reels of the latest motion pictures, complete election returns will be shown on the screen at the Bijou theater this evening as quickly as they are received from the various polling places throughout the city. The Bijou has made special arrangements to have the returns sent directly to the theater by telephone and in this way no time will be lost in getting the figures before those in the audience. Between the reels of motion pictures will be a short intermission, at which time the returns will be shown. A special program has been arranged for this evening and patrons of the Bijou may be assured of seeing a first class performance and, as a side issue, getting the election returns.

THOUGHT WAR WILL NOT AFFECT HAWAIIAN SUGAR, SAYS NEW YORK JOURNAL

The declaration of war by Japan upon Germany caused some conjecture as to the effect on the Hawaiian sugar market, for the United States secures some 500,000 tons yearly from that source, and with prices so high any further diminution of the supply of raws would be severely felt in this country, says the New York Journal of Commerce. It was pointed out that the bulk of the labor performed on the plantations was by Japanese, and, should they be recalled to the army, the shipments of sugar would be curtailed. Interests owning plantations and representing the planters in this country said, however, that the scare was unnecessary, for there would be no exodus of Japanese to the mother country, since the capture of the German port in China would not entail a large army. During the Russian-Japanese war even the planters had no trouble in getting their crop of cane harvested and manufactured.

The tea trade was temporarily affected, for there were no cables from either Japan or China, but it was not thought that shipments to the United States would suffer materially. It was pointed out that the Japanese had a large fleet which would take care of the few German cruisers in the Pacific Ocean. The war was too small an affair, moreover, to warrant putting an embargo upon exports, especially with present high prices giving Japan a large profit on its shipments.

"SEA WOLF" COMES TO VIOLENT DEATH

(By Latest Mail.)
VANCOUVER, B. C.—Captain Alexander McLean, the original of Jack London's Wolf Larsen in the "Sea Wolf," was found dead here with signs of a death as violent as the life he had led.
The body was found in a shallow beach of False creek. A broad mark across the forehead indicated that he had been struck before falling into the water.
For many years Captain McLean was the terror of the Alaskan seal fisheries. He poached at will and when there was a chance of his little schooner, the Carmichael, being overhauled, he slipped quietly into some cave and changed the name of his craft.
His activities of an unlawful nature came to an end in 1905 when the British-Canadian authorities caught him and stopped his poaching.

LOCAL BOOM IS EXPECTED SAYS COAST REPORTS

Under the heading "Say Canal Will Mean Hawaiian Land Boom," and under a Honolulu date line, the Pendleton, Oregon, East Oregonian of August 23 carried the following story:

"Hawaiian islanders are looking forward to a tremendous boom in the territory following the opening of the Panama canal. From the standpoint of the great landowners and their better paid dependents, the prediction seems to be based on sound reasoning. In working class circles, however, some dissenting voices are raised.

"The Hawaiian natives, it is agreed on all hands, except perhaps in native circles, have never made satisfactory laborers. The Japanese have done tolerably well and the Chinese still better, though they have annoyed the landowners by insisting generally on doing plantation work on shares rather than for definitely fixed wages.

"The Chinese exclusion law and the agreement between the United States and Japan have cut off labor supplies from these two sources, however, with the result, during the past few years, that wages have been increasing and there has not been enough of it at any price.

"The shortage has been partly supplied by importations, under rather thin evasions of the anti-convict labor law, from southern Europe and especially from Portugal. The expense of bringing them has been heavy, however, and on their arrival they have generally insisted on current wages. The number brought in has been comparatively so small that they have usually carried their point or approximated it.

"The canal view is that the opening of the canal will cheapen the trip from Europe to the islands so much that there will be a flood of immigration, with corresponding advantages to the employers. On the Pacific coast the unions have been taking steps to meet such an expected situation, but here, owing to the class of workers and the completeness of the landowner's domination, unionism has never secured much foothold. Hawaiian agents already are in Europe, not contracting for workers, but pointing out to the men the advantageous conditions they will find in the territory and the small cost of the voyage as soon as the canal is open."

RALLIES BRING FIRST HALF OF RACE TO CLOSE

The primary campaign on Oahu was brought to a close last night with three rallies, two Republican and one Democratic.

The Rice rally at the Bijou theater was by all odds one of the most successful meetings held on behalf of the Kauai man. The house was packed full at the opening of the meeting and a large crowd stayed through.

Mr. Rice, E. C. Peters, C. H. Olson, and A. D. Castro spoke for Rice and were followed by a number of Republican candidates present on the general invitation of the Rice campaign committee.

Kuhio's meeting at Athletic Park was a good-sized one and quite enthusiastic, but its numbers proved disappointing to the Kuhio managers. The grandstand was only about half full of people. A number were on the ball field. In point of noise the meeting was the best of the evening. One of the features was that W. T. Rawlins, who has avoided declaring himself on the delegateship question, last night decided that he was for Kuhio and got cheers from the crowd by announcing the fact.

Another feature of the closing Republican rallies last night was that Harry E. Murray's rivals for mayor turned loose with hot remarks against him, declaring that he had made dirty charges against his opponents. Murray at both the Kuhio and the Rice meetings handed it out straight from the shoulder.

The Democrats had a big rally at Aala Park, with Col. C. J. McCarthy presiding and a large number of candidates speaking to a crowd of nearly 2000.

Rain that fell lightly at intervals during the evening somewhat dampened the crowds outdoors.

Last night was marked also by the appearance of a number of fake "slates" on the street, most of which were attributed by opponents of Rice to the Rice managers. The slates were palpable fakes, plainly designed to arouse antagonism and prejudice. No indication was given on the printed slips as to who was really responsible for them.
